

CLAIM AMENDMENTS

1. (Previously presented) A tamper evident RFID tag, comprising:
a tamper evident label material, with an adhesive on a back side, and an RFID Transponder adhered to said adhesive, wherein:
the tamper evident label material is a vinyl with a tensile and tear resistance such that the tamper evident label material one of tears and breaks upon an attempted removal from a substrate.
2. (Cancelled)
3. (Original) The tag of claim 1, wherein:
the tamper evident label material is 3M 7610 ScotchMark Destructible Vinyl.
4. (Original) The tag of claim 1, further including:
a release liner attached to said adhesive.
5. (Original) The tag of claim 1, further including:
a hologram on the label material.
6. (Original) The tag of claim 1, further including:
microprinting on the label material.
7. (Previously amended) A tamper evident RFID tag, comprising
a clear label material, with a silicone pattern and a pigmented adhesive on a back side, and an RF transponder adhered to said adhesive;
wherein separation of the tag from a substrate results in incomplete separation of the adhesive in the form of the silicone pattern and said pattern becomes visible.
8. (Original) The tag of claim 7, wherein:
the tamper evident label material is one of 3M 7866, 3M 7389 and 3M 7385.

9. (Original) The tag of claim 8, further including:
a hologram on the label material.
10. (Currently amended) The tag of claim 8, further including:
microprinting on the label material.
11. (Cancelled)
12. (Cancelled)
13. (Cancelled)
14. (Previously presented) The tag of claim 3, further including:
a release liner attached to said adhesive.
15. (Previously presented) The tag of claim 3, further including:
a hologram on the label material.
16. (Previously presented) The tag of claim 3, further including:
microprinting on the label material.
17. (Previously presented) The tag of claim 8, further including:
a release liner attached to said adhesive.
18. (Previously presented) The tag of claim 7, further including:
a release liner attached to said adhesive.
19. (Previously presented) The tag of claim 7, further including:
a hologram on the label material.
20. (Previously presented) The tag of claim 7, further including:
microprinting on the label material.

INTERMEC IP CORP.
Serial Number: 10/092174
Page 4
13019

21. (Cancelled)